BD 7600 God's revelation "Receive and eat"

My word gives you everything you need on earth For as soon as you are addressed by Me, you will not lack strength and grace, and you will be well provided for spiritually and earthly because My promise is: "I will not leave you orphaned" I will reveal Myself to you and thus make Myself known to you as your father. And a father truly provides for his child spiritually and earthly, if it only lets itself be addressed by him. Because then you give me the proof that you love me, and I also prove my fatherly love to you by speaking to you.

And a loving father's heart is always ready to give. Therefore you will not need to do without anything when you hear My speech, because then you know that you are My children to whom My care also applies spiritually and physically. And how happy you may praise yourselves that you hear my word, because thereby the proof is given to you that you belong to my children, who have already taken the way to the father and who also safely reach the goal And no more anxiety should befall you, because already your will to let me speak to you also earns you the strength to continue the way on earth in the certainty to cover it until the end

For it is "My flesh" that you eat, and "My blood" that you drink It is bread and wine, which you may enjoy for the strengthening of your soul. You receive Me Myself in you, because I am the Word made flesh Consider once the depth of these words that I Myself am in you when you hear My Word, when I speak to you, when I offer you My greatest gift of love that you can ever receive from Me on earth. I am in you, otherwise you could not hear me, and my presence must make you overjoyed.

Therefore you can truly praise yourselves blessedly when you stand in the grace of my direct address, when you receive my word led directly to earth through messengers, when you are worthy of my address, which stamps you to my children, because only the ones who are mine can recognize my pure word, and only the ones who are mine take it into their hearts. And that you hear or are allowed to read my word, that will be a proof for you that you belong to mine, and you are to be happy in this certainty and only desire to hear my word more and more eagerly, you are to let no opportunity pass where my word sounds to you, because then you also have the guarantee that I myself am in you and with you, otherwise you could not hear me, otherwise you would not recognize the voice of the father, who himself speaks to you.

and you shall enjoy the food with a hungry heart, which I offer you you shall eat my flesh and drink my blood and therefore receive me completely in your heart You shall receive bread and wine from the heavens and let yourselves be strengthened in a way that no other food can do, which your earthly body takes in. For I offer My food to the soul, and this food lets the soul mature and helps it to eternal life. Do you know now why I sent you the words through My disciples: "Take and eat, take and drink" ? Do you know now that I also addressed My disciples, that they heard My word and that they should carry this word out into the world "Do this in remembrance of Me"

What have you men made of My words, and what meaning have you put under them? That in the end only a few know that I still give people bread and wine, that I give them My word as right food for their souls and that I am present to them when you can hear My address, My voice. And my word will remain until all eternity Again and again I will address men where these allow my presence, and again and again they will be able to draw the power from my address that their souls mature, that they fulfil the purpose of earth life, that they form themselves to love and now seek and find the union with me because my love addresses them incessantly, because my love draws them and the soul therefore can no longer resist my love illumination, my word

Amen
